1 Corinthians 3:13-14; Romans 13:11-12

On the Day of Judgment, how will we be characterized by God? What will God's response be to you? Well good thy faithful servant....or something else? If you were a metal and placed in the fire would you come out pure as gold....clunky as copper....or simply burned until all traces of your existence has dissipated and spread like desert sand in the hot wind of sin?

Every day decisions are made...small, great, insignificant, mighty. Are our decisions based with a heart of servitude to the Lord our God...or self-centered and weak impressions of carnalized spirit? Each decision represents an inch traveled on your life's journey to meet eternity.

1 Corinthians 3:13-14

Verse 13

- Everything everyone has ever said or have ever done will be called into question on the day we stand face to face with our creator and receive our just reward.
- Are you working for God? Are you working for yourself?
- Are you proud of the work you've been doing for God? Is that work more for you?
- As with the metal, God will take all your deeds and place them in a kiln and burn off the impurities. What will you be left with?

Verse 14

- Do you receive the reward of life? Living in eternal bliss with Jesus?
- Do you receive the reward of death? Living in swallow with eternal heat and pain?

Romans 13:11-12

Verse 11

- No matter how wise we may think we are in our own selves, we will kneel and submit our selves and bow to the King. Every tongue will confess God....not Allah, Buddha or any other conjured entity.

Verse 12

- Every one will give an account of the lies, the love, the enslavement, the servitude offered to mankind.
- Self-pride will kill a person's life, their soul, and their relationship with God.
